Allisonville Meadows Assisted Living Receives Perfect Annual Survey from Indiana Department of Health

Fishers, IN – Allisonville Meadows Assisted Living, a member of American Senior Communities (ASC), recently received a deficiency-free annual state inspection from the Indiana State Department of Health.

A deficiency-free rating is the highest score a senior community can receive, with only a small percentage of senior care communities achieving this rating each year. Communities are assessed on their staff to patient ratio, cleanliness of the facility, 100% compliance with state and federal regulations, record keeping, safety measures, dietary practices, overall quality of care, and more. Surveys are conducted by inspectors through unannounced visits. In addition to their inspection metrics, inspectors conduct interviews with residents, family members and staff.

“We’re proud of the incredible team at Allisonville Meadows Assisted Living,” said Steve Van Camp, CEO. “Their dedication and compassion shine through in the care they provide every day, earning the trust of residents, families, and the local community. A deficiency-free rating is not easily achieved and this recognition is a reflection of their hard work and commitment to living out our values, and we celebrate every team member for the difference they make in the lives of those entrusted to our care.”
